

TEAM DECC: CARING. GIVING. EVERYBODY WINNING.

Elonda Walker-Vaughn · Denver Public Library

“Habitat for Humanity of Metro Denver is a long-standing nonprofit that helps people achieve a home. They do it by having the family that needs the house actively work on building it, along with numerous volunteers that Habitat provides. It is a truly generous community development venture. The volunteers get to know who is living in the home and what the neighborhood is like and the family gets to know they are supported by friends, family and, above all else, by strangers. With housing prices skyrocketing beyond anyone’s means and rental costs exceeding workers’ incomes, Habitat for Humanity is an incredibly important organization operating in Denver. Generous donations to Habitat for Humanity will keep social and economic diversity in our Denver communities. This will provide a healthier Denver for all of us.”
