

Lydia Martinez · Human Services

“My grandson was diagnosed with a congenital heart defect known as Hypoplastic Left Heart Syndrome in Vitro. Thirteen days after his birth he was the recipient of a new heart. As a heart recipient there are many unknowns, not to the healthcare professionals, but to the parents. As a result of my daughter’s personal experience, she founded a nonprofit known as Gabriel’s Gift. Gabriel’s Gift is the local nonprofit of choice for me. Recognizing the need for an organization like Gabriel’s Gift is the primary factor in my support. When dealing with the everyday fears of knowing that this day could be the last day of your infant’s life and having to look for resources when in crisis, as a caregiver, this is overwhelming. Having lived this experience, I have become active in doing whatever I am able to offer assistance to those in need. My passion for the nonprofit sector is endless. A day does not go by that I don’t take some action to assist someone.”

More about Gabriel’s Gift

The mission of Gabriel’s Gift is to assist families financially, emotionally and spiritually. Gabriel’s Gift also strives to raise awareness about organ transplantation as well as help to raise money to expand research efforts in an effort to find a cure for congenital heart defects. The organization also raises awareness about congenital heart defects within the community and medical industry.
