

Project Overview

Project Scope

Phase one of the Parkfield Lake Park Development project, primarily comprised of trail improvements around Parkfield Lake, preceded the Better Denver Bond Program and was completed in 2007. Further improvements were proposed as part of the bond program and were included in phases two through four of the park's development—these phases of work are summarized herein. New park facilities constructed during this period include additional walking trails, two bluegrass meadows for informal outdoor activities, various sporting fields and hard courts, a new playground with state-of-the-art equipment, a skate park, a dog park, a new outdoor amphitheater, new restroom and parking facilities, various picnic and shade structures, site amenities from park benches to bike racks, new landscaping features, hundreds of new trees and shrubs, and the restoration of native areas within the park's boundaries.
