Concerns with our Streetscapes

• The streetscapes in my neighborhood could use some attention. We need more crosswalks so it’s easier for people to walk around the neighborhood. At certain blocks, the sidewalk ends and we must walk along a dirt path or in the street. The only bike lanes in my neighborhood are along the main road. Our sidewalks don’t have street lights.
More crosswalks in the neighborhood would make it more walkable.

Striped bike lanes on main roads would encourage more people to bike.

It would be great to have an emergency system for safety, especially at night.

The neighborhood should be more wheelchair accessible throughout.

Benches would make for a more comfortable streetscape, especially at bus stops.

A landscaped street, where people want to walk and spend time and feel safe.
Vision for our Streetscapes

• Crosswalks with yield signs encourage drivers to slow down. More crosswalks in our neighborhood and better signage, especially around schools would make our neighborhood more walkable.

• Buffered bike lanes improve safety and encourage people to use alternative transportation. Painting the bike lane would make it more visible to drivers. On smaller streets, a simple white line would help to define the bike lane.

• Widening sidewalks and re-paving them would make our community more beautiful. Areas with dirt paths along the side of the road could get new sidewalks put in. Sidewalk areas could also include benches at our bus stops.

• Landscaping along the streets would make them much nicer to look at. People would feel safer and happier when they were walking, biking, and driving down them.
