Administrator III - FA3225
THIS IS A PUBLIC DOCUMENT

General Statement of Duties

Performs a variety of comprehensive, technical administrative activities that have city-wide impact within a specialized, functional area(s) which requires a thorough foundation in the principles and practices of the functions area(s), exercises overall responsibility for the functional area(s), and provides authoritative advice to top level managers and elected officials on matters of key importance to city goals, programs, and mission.

Distinguishing Characteristics

This class performs a variety of comprehensive and technical administrative activities that have city wide impact and provide advice to top level managers and elected officials. This class is distinguished from the Administrator II class that performs a variety of comprehensive and technical administrative activities within a specialized, functional area which requires a thorough foundation in the principles and practices of the functional area(s) in order to ensure efficient and effective administration and provide administrative direction to department(s) leaders in strategic efforts associated with the functional area. The Administrator III class is distinguished from the Administrator I class that performs a variety of specific administrative activities/projects of limited scope in a specialized, functional area which requires a thorough foundation in the principles and practices of the functional area in order to maintain and improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the function and provide supportive, interpretive, and advisory information to higher level administrators, managers, and/or other stakeholders. The Administrator III is distinguished from a Manager II class that directs and manages an operational and/or functional area(s) by developing objectives while implementing strategies and managing plans, programs, and projects.

The Administrator III is distinguished from a Program Manager that performs professional and supervisory work over program staff, provides leadership, program direction, and long range and short term planning for the program area(s), directs program design, policy development, and performance criteria for program operations, and makes budgetary and resource allocation decisions. Additionally, a Program Manager is responsible for a program in a specialized area with specific components that include its own policies, procedures, goals, objectives, budget, and tasks that distinguish it from the main body of a department/agency. A program may complement the core goals and objectives of an agency/department but it is separate from the functional areas that support the core goals and objectives; whereas, an Administrator III is responsible for a core business function(s).

Administrators are focused on the functional area not on supervising or managing staff; consequentially, an administrator may perform lead work or supervisory duties. However, administrative positions exist to serve as a technical expert within the functional area and require a high degree of specialized knowledge.

In general, the Administrator III class has city-wide responsibility or department wide responsibility with city-wide impact/implications and reports to an executive level position. The Administrator II class has department level responsibility and may have some city-wide responsibilities of defined scope. The Administrator I class has division level responsibility and may have some departmental responsibilities of defined scope. Additionally, an Administrator III and an Administrator II have responsibility of the entire functional area and the Administrator I has responsibility for a portion of the functional area.

* Some functional areas are clarified in specific classes and series within the classification plan. In those cases the specific classes are to be used.

Administrator Definition:
