

Office of Human Resources
Deputy Manager - EA3207
THIS IS A PUBLIC DOCUMENT

General Statement of Duties

Provides executive level, strategic leadership and management for a large charter department or independent agency. This is the highest level of management other than appointees or elected officers, with final accountability for overall performance of the department. Directs the operation(s), represents the organization's positions, initiatives and interests in multiple functional and/or operational areas or over a variety of complex divisions to include establishing a multi-year vision and strategic plan for the organization, optimizing resource allocation, fostering innovation, and ensuring the organization accomplishes annual goals and strategic initiatives.

Distinguishing Characteristics

There are four general management classes (Manager, Director, Executive, and Deputy Manager) and specific individual management classes. The Deputy Manager is the highest level of management in a large charter department or independent agency, other than appointed or elected charter officers. (The Executive class may be used as deputy managers of agencies for small to medium sized charter departments.)

A Deputy Manager directs one or more large divisions and is generally responsible for managing executives, directors, managers, supervisors, and individual contributors. A Deputy Manager position has a combination of operational and strategic focus but is predominately strategic.

The large departments within the City are the Department of Public Works, Department of Human Services, Department of Aviation, Department of Parks and Recreation, and the Department of Safety.

This class is distinguished from the Deputy Manager of Aviation, who performs similar work specifically for the Department of Aviation and is responsible for a major division at Denver International Airport. This class is distinguished from the Deputy Manager of Parks and Recreation, who performs similar work specifically as a Mayoral appointee.

This class is distinguished from Executive which manages and directs multiple divisions within a large charter department or agency. Establishes a multi-year vision and strategic plan for the divisions, optimizes resource allocation, and ensures the divisions accomplish annual goals and strategic initiatives.
