

IMPORTANT CHANGE TO DENVER FIRE PERMITS

denvergov.org/epermits

Denver has launched online permitting for all Denver Fire Department (DFD) permits and reviews. This will allow city staff to spend more time conducting a high-quality review of plans and less time processing them.

From now on, please use the following method to apply for any DFD permit, including walk-through and log in:

- 1) Go to denvergov.org/epermits. Familiarize yourself with the tutorials on the page and then enter the e-permits system.
  - a. New users: Register for an account.
  - b. Licensed contractors: Once your account is created, go to Account Management to add your contractor's license to your e-permits account. You will then be able to quickly view your permits under Home > My Records.
- 2) Go to the Development Services tab > Apply for a Permit.
- 3) Select the appropriate fire permit from the list and follow the prompts.

Resubmittals/Approved Plans:

To submit additional information during plan review, go back to the Development Services tab in e-permits and search for your project, either by record number or address.

Once on the correct record, go to Record Info > Attachments to add new documents.

Make sure to hit "save" after uploading new/revised documents.

Approved plans will be available to download here once the review is complete.

For e-permits questions, dial 3-1-1 (720-913-1311 if you are calling from outside Denver).
