Section 25-1.5-101(1)(a) of Colorado Revised Statutes requires the Department of Public Health and Environment (DPHE) to issue a public health order if a public health emergency is declared. This order requires individuals to isolate or quarantine as necessary to prevent the spread of COVID-19.

On March 23, 2020, DPHE issued an order requiring all individuals to stay at home except for essential activities. The order was later modified to allow for certain exemptions.

On April 24, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until May 28, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On May 26, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until July 18, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On June 4, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until July 20, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On July 22, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until August 18, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On August 23, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until September 18, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On September 24, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until October 8, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On October 21, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until November 21, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On November 24, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until December 21, 2020. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.

On December 28, 2020, DPHE issued a new order extending the stay-at-home guidance until January 31, 2021. This order was later modified to allow for more exceptions.
DDPHE is a department of the Colorado Governor's Office. Denver is the most populous city in Colorado. In the year 2012, Colorado's population was estimated to be 5.1 million. DDPHE is responsible for protecting the health of Denver residents by monitoring and controlling communicable diseases, ensuring the safety of the city's water supply, and regulating the city's food and drug industries.

The Health Department's jurisdiction includes all administrative, financial, and technical matters associated with the health of Denver residents. DDPHE is responsible for ensuring the health and safety of Denver residents by monitoring and controlling communicable diseases, ensuring the safety of the city's water supply, and regulating the city's food and drug industries.

DDPHE is a department of the Colorado Governor's Office. Denver is the most populous city in Colorado. In the year 2012, Colorado's population was estimated to be 5.1 million. DDPHE is responsible for protecting the health of Denver residents by monitoring and controlling communicable diseases, ensuring the safety of the city's water supply, and regulating the city's food and drug industries.

The Health Department's jurisdiction includes all administrative, financial, and technical matters associated with the health of Denver residents. DDPHE is responsible for ensuring the health and safety of Denver residents by monitoring and controlling communicable diseases, ensuring the safety of the city's water supply, and regulating the city's food and drug industries.

Robert M. McDonald

Director of Public Health

City and County of Denver

101 W Colfax Ave, Suite 800
Denver, CO 80202

www.denvergov.org/PublicHealthandEnvironment

Phone: 720-913-1311  •  Email: 720-865-5531  •  @DDPHE