Over the past year, the Denver Moves: Transit team has been busy gathering your feedback about how to improve transit in Denver. We accomplished a lot in 2017, and your participation and input has been important, helping guide our work every step of the way. Here’s snapshot of how many members of the community we heard from and key findings from our analysis and public input.

We’ll be kicking off 2018 with more community input opportunities in January and we hope to see you there!

More details available at https://www.denvergov.org/content/denvergov/en/denveright/transit.html