

List of Trained Contractors and Building Professionals for Energize Denver Electrification Programs Electrification Feasibility Report

This is a list of individuals that have taken the Electrification Feasibility Report training and passed the test related to Energize Denver Electrification Requirements. The service providers' qualifications have not been vetted by the City and County of Denver or its affiliates (Michaels Energy, Center for Energy and Environment, ZoZo Group, and Bilingual Communication Services) and the city and its affiliates do not endorse their services.

Electrification Feasibility Reports (EFR) are designed to provide information to building owners, tenants and those installing equipment to better understand the costs and benefits of installing (partial or full) heat pump technology when replacing furnaces, rooftop units, hot water heaters, unitary AC units and condensing units. EFRs are also a means to meet requirements when replacing the aforementioned equipment with a like-for-like replacement. Many types of knowledgeable professionals including HVAC professionals, Plumbing professionals, Professional Engineer, Certified Energy Manager and Energy Management Professional may complete the EFR.

Please email electrification@denvergov.org if you have completed the training and test but do not see your name on this list.
