GREEN VALLEY RANCH INDOOR POOL

PROJECT BACKGROUND

Built in 2006, the Green Valley Ranch Recreation Center was designed to accommodate a future building expansion to include an indoor pool and other support services. The population continues to rapidly expand at one of the highest rates in Denver and the area is lacking adequate aquatic amenities. Building an indoor pool also makes good on a promise made to this community from the 2007 Bond.

This project includes the construction of an indoor pool and other support services such as an office, dressing rooms, storage and chemical rooms.
