General Statement of Duties

Performs regularly assigned lead work over staff responsible for the daily operation, maintenance, preventative maintenance and repairs for a City facility, including utilizing automated control systems to monitor, adjust and control various electrical and mechanical building systems.

Distinguishing Characteristics

This class is distinguished from other trades areas by the specialty of the work and minimum qualifications. This class is part of the Building Engineer trades job family with increasing responsibility on building systems in city facilities. This class is part of a trades class series. All levels are not required to be used within any one agency or department and assignment of a classification depends on the duties and responsibilities of the position. In addition to increasing levels of experience required at each level, Level I trade classifications perform journey/full performance level work in the assigned trade area and comprises a majority of positions. Level II trades classifications perform specialized and expert level journey work in assigned trades area, represents the agency/department on large and complex projects, and/or may have necessary licensure/certification and are required to pull building permits. Generally, there are less positions at this level than at level I. Finally, Lead Level performs permanently assigned lead work over lower level staff and performs the duties of Level I or Level II. There should be few positions assigned to this classification.
