Division Overview ........................................................................ 8
In 2018 when I penned the original message for the Denver Department of Public Health & Environment (DDPHE) Strategic Plan (2018-2022), I never imagined the challenges ahead of us as a city, a public health department, or as human beings battling a deadly virus. Fortunately, we’ve persevered, and we continue to move forward, staying the course by focusing on sound public health and prevention principles.

COVID-19 has shown the world the importance of public health. Rebuilding the systems that keep us healthy and safe means that we must be flexible, proactive, and able to adjust our priorities to meet the needs of the community. I want to acknowledge that our employees have modeled excellence, commitment, and resilience as they willingly undertook new roles and accepted expanded capacity to respond to ever-changing and increasing community needs during the pandemic.

Like many cities and counties, we are aware of profound health inequities in our community and we are committed to build on efforts to shift the narrative and redirect resources to reflect the principles of racial justice and inclusion as part of our workplace culture.

As public health professionals, we believe everyone deserves to achieve their optimum level of health, recognizing that mental health is an essential part of overall health. To ensure that we address bias, inequity, and access, we must work together to build the public health system of the future.

The Denver Department of Public Health & Environment Strategic Plan 2021-2024 provides a renewed look at our strategic priorities and lays out objectives for our department over the next three years.

An important part of this update is to ensure that it aligns our mission and our people to the opportunities to address public health issues existing right now in our city, while also planning for future public health needs. We must challenge ourselves to think differently, listen to each other, and communicate honestly about what it takes to get the work done; all DDPHE team members were given the opportunity to provide feedback on this update to the strategic plan.

As Denver’s public health authority, our actions save lives and advance work that supports an equitable distribution of resources essential for health and well-being. This plan will guide us as we continue to embody our mission of “Empowering Denver’s Communities to Live Better, Longer.”

Sincerely,

Robert McDonald
Executive Director | Public Health Administrator
Denver Department of Public Health & Environment
Mission & Vision

Empowering Denver’s Communities to Live Better, Longer
We do this by providing people with opportunities that support their well-being and by improving services that enrich our community.

Vision
To be the best public health department in the country
We must address bias, inequity, and access by working together to build the public health system of the future.

Culture
We foster an inclusive culture by respecting the values, customs, and authenticity of everyone and by implementing equitable public health strategies so Denver communities can thrive.

What is a mission statement?
A mission statement describes the current state of the organization, focusing on primary goals or objectives.

What is a vision statement?
A vision statement describes the future state of the organization, an aspirational goal.

What is a culture statement?
A culture statement is a compilation of the organization’s shared beliefs, values, attitudes, and practices and how they are visioned in the operations and throughout the communities it serves.
Denver is experiencing a time of tremendous growth and progress; it is essential for our department to be innovative, flexible, and nimble while continuously promoting our core mission of “Empowering Denver’s Communities to Live Better, Longer.”

As such, DDPHE has updated our strategic priorities to reflect relevance to current times and provide clarity, direction, and focus for the department. To complement and provide context to the priorities, objectives and metrics were also updated.

DDPHE’s strategic priorities are:

- Equity, Diversity, & Inclusion
- Customer Experience
- Operational Excellence
- Workforce Well-being & Development
Equity, Diversity, & Inclusion

DDPHE is committed to hiring a workforce reflective of the community we serve and creating an inclusive workplace where employees’ voices matter and there is a clear connection to how they contribute to the mission of the department. DDPHE will collaborate with the Denver Office of Social Equity & Innovation and the Office of Human Resources as valued partners in achieving these goals.

STRATEGY
Create an inclusive workplace that prioritizes building internal relationships based on trust, shared commitment, and solution-seeking through diversity.

As defined here, diversity is the range of human differences, including, but not limited to, race, ethnicity, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, social class, socioeconomic status, physical ability or attributes, education, marital status, language, religious or ethical values systems, and national origin, as well as diversity of thought: ideas, perspectives, and values.

OBJECTIVES
• All DDPHE staff receive foundational training in the principles of equity within one year of their hire, helping to incorporate an equity lens across DDPHE.
• Increase organizational gender and ethnic diversity within DDPHE to better represent and engage with the communities we serve.

METRICS
1. 100% of DDPHE staff have completed foundational training in principles of equity within one year of their hire. Training became available in Q4 2021; employees with >1 year of service must complete training by EOY 2022.

Strategic Priorities

Customer Experience

DDPHE serves residents at all stages of life, from maternal childhood health to death investigations. Our work touches where Denver eats, lives, works, and plays, regardless of gender, ethnicity, or economic status. We know the customer’s experience is best when they are engaged, providing input, and feeling that their voices are valued.

STRATEGY

Elevate the customer experience by fostering community engagement and being uniquely responsive to all we serve.

OBJECTIVES

- Increase the percentage of customer survey responses indicating that the customer is “satisfied” or “strongly satisfied” with our services.
- All public health service requests will receive a response within three business days.

METRICS

1. 90% of DDPHE customer satisfaction survey responses indicate “satisfied” or “strongly satisfied” with the services provided by the Department.

Workforce Well-being & Development

DDPHE believes a happy and productive workforce is foundational to achieving excellence in public and environmental health. DDPHE leadership prioritizes engagement, building of trust, continuous learning and growth, and work-life satisfaction.

STRATEGY

Align, empower, and establish:
Align DDPHE’s workforce with the department’s mission, strategic plan, and goals; Empower employees to gain knowledge, skills, and experience; Establish a solid culture of development, appreciation, and kindness.

OBJECTIVES

- Employee Retention: DDPHE workforce retention rates will meet or exceed the citywide average.
- DDPHE’s Well-being Index will meet or exceed the citywide average.

The Well-being Index is an average of six questions focused on employee well-being:
Three questions from the citywide Employee Engagement Survey and three questions from the DDPHE Pulse Survey (utilizing two surveys because they occur in alternating years):

Employee Engagement Survey
1. My supervisor is sincerely interested in my well-being
2. The city provides sufficient flexibility in my work schedule options to help me balance the demands of work and personal life
3. My department/agency promotes a culture/environment of appreciation

DDPHE Pulse Survey
1. My department practices a safe work environment
2. My department provides the needed tools, equipment, and training to do my job safely
3. I am encouraged and expected to speak up about any agency practices and policies that are ethically questionable

METRICS

1. DDPHE workforce retention rates meet or exceed the citywide average.
