

Tony Anderson
Chief Workforce Development Officer

Tony Anderson is the Chief Workforce Development Officer for Denver Economic Development and Opportunity, and has been with the City and County of Denver since 2013, serving in various roles within the City's Workforce Services Division. In addition to his years of workforce development experience in Denver, Tony spent 5 years with the Colorado Department of Labor and Employment, working out of the Fort Morgan Workforce Center. Prior to his career in workforce development, Tony spent 7 years in a variety of management roles within the golf industry in Colorado.

Tony was born and raised in Huron, South Dakota and holds a Bachelor's Degree in Business Economics from South Dakota State University. He is a member of the US Conference of Mayors, Workforce Development Council, Board of Trustees and serves as Vice President of the Rocky Mountain Workforce Development Association. In his free time Tony enjoys golfing in the spring, summer and fall, snowboarding in the winter, and spending time with his wife and twin daughters year-round.